

CHAPTER NO. 1

WHERE SOMEDAY IS NOW.

We all have our list of Somedays – Someday I'll get organized. Someday I'll travel to Peru. Someday I'll start a company with my sister-in-law (...okay, that last one might just be us).

Ours began three years ago when we were both hired to brand and establish a new boutique stationery line as part of our nine-to-five. It was there that we discovered a passion for creating products that not only made life more beautiful, they also made it a helluva lot easier. This discovery sparked a series of conversations that we've later coined our 'someday sessions,' where we let ourselves dream of what it would be like to have a studio of our own. Roughly 10,000 somedays later, we knew it was time to turn dreams into reality.

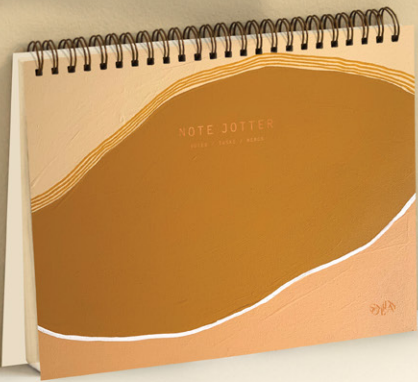

So here we are – beyond excited to share our collection with you. We are proudly based in Massachusetts where our products are thoughtfully designed, printed and assembled by hand. We hope they help you turn your somedays into today.
